

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

will, filed yesterday, of the estate of Moses Taylor Pyne, lawyer, financier and trustee and benefactor of Princeton University, who died April 22, 1921, shows that he left a total estate of $11,309,977, of which $10,237,119 was in personal property. Because Mr. Pyne was a resident of Princeton, N. J., only $4,036,235 of his estate is taxable in New York. The bulk of his property consisted of securities.

Mr. Pyne left to his widow, Margaretta S. Pyne, a life interest in the town house at 263-265 Madison Avenue, valued at $225,000, and the contents of the house, appraised at $23,750. He also gave her a life interest in his residence, Drumthwacket, at Princeton, with its contents, and one-half the income from the residuary estate for life. Upon her death this property, with the residuary estate, goes to her two sons, Percy R. Pyne 2d and Moses Taylor Pyne Jr.

Princeton University received land in that city valued at $53,425, and the stock of the Prospect Company, owner of the tract of land in Princeton known as Broadmeade, valued at $214,570, and the sums due Mr. Pyne from the Prospect Company, amounting to $13,900.

The property in New York included real estate worth $861,800, of which the following were the largest parcels: 17 East Sixtieth Street, $100,000; 30 East Fortieth Street, $65,000; third interest in 1,613-1,623 Broadway, $320,000, and a third interest in property at Riverdale, which share was valued at $93,600. The securities taxable in New York included the following stocks: 2,000 shares American International Corporation, $86,250; 1,200 Consolidated Gas, $85,500; 1,280 Farmers Loan and Trust Company, $448,000; 6,360 National City Bank, $1,906,485; 508 National Bank of Commerce, $109,982, and 1,588 Steel Equipment Corporation, $111,923.

The list of stocks owned by Mr. Pyne which were not taxable in New York included 12,000 shares Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railroad; 150,000 British-American Petroleum Company; 2,884 Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Coal Company; 8,250 Lackawanna Railroad; 8,845 Lehigh Valley Railroad; 3,017 New Jersey Zinc Company, and 1,115 shares Michigan Central.

Mr. Pyne had debts amounting to $335,775, of which he owed $190,915 to the Stock Exchange firm of Pyne, Kendall & Hollister on two speculative accounts. His will gave $50,000 in cash to his friend, William D. Seaman, and a codicil left $10,000 cash to his friend, Eugene Pattison.

A study of the ancestry of the English family of Pyne shows that it can be traced back in the direct male line to Herbert de Pyn or de Pins, who was lord of the manor of Upton Pyne in Devonshire about 1154, and who seems to have been the first of the family to settle in England.

The family was obviously of French origin for among all the Christian names of the early members not a single Saxon name can be found. We have Herbert, Simon, Hugh, Ralph, Thomas, Alexander, Henry, Geoffrey, William, Robert, etc., but the first Saxon name, Edmund, does not appear until more than two hundred years after the arrival of the family in England. It was evident, therefore, that we should look beyond the Channel for its source.

By a happy accident, shortly after this conclusion had been reached, I came across the history of an ancient French house, of the same name and bearing the same arms as the English family, which had established itself in Aquitaine about A. D. 1120. The arms of this French house were "Gules, three pine cones erect or." The English house bears these identical arms, with the addition of a chevron, evidently added for distinction, viz.: "Gules, a chevron ermine between three pine cones erect or."

With the lack of records of those early days one could not expect to find any written evidence of the exact connection between the head of this family, who in 1154, was Guillaume Raymond de Pins (see page 39) and the particular member of his family who settled in England, but since we know that there actually was a noble family of the name in Aquitaine in 1154, the year in which Henry II went to England to receive the English crown; that Henry's wife, Queen Eleanor, was Duchess of Aquitaine and overlord of that Duchy; that a noble of the importance of Guillaume Raymond de Pins would certainly be required to send at least one of his kinsmen to attend her; and that the first of the name, bearing the same arms as the French family, appeared in England simultaneously with her arrival and received a grant of a manor in Devonshire, previously called Upton, but ever since known from its first owner as Upton Pyne, it is practically certain that the first Herbert de Pyn was a younger son of the Aquitaine family, who came to England in the train of his sovereign, the Duchess of Aquitaine, and that this manorial grant was given him as a reward for his services. Circumstantial evidence could hardly go much further and it is improbable that all this is merely a series of coincidences.

The records of the French house show that it is descended from one of the most ancient and noble families of Spain—the Barons Galcerán de Pinós, whose first known ancestor was one of the nine famous barons of Catalonia, celebrated in Spanish history and legend, who are said to have come from the north in the year 754, at the call of King Pepin (father of Charlemagne) to aid in delivering Spain from the yoke of the Moors, and whose descendants compose the nine oldest families of Aragon, if not indeed of all Spain.

These nine chieftains built castles and fortresses in the most inaccessible fastnesses of the Pyrenees from which they waged incessant wars against the Moors until the arrival of Charlemagne with a great army in 801. Joining their forces with his they assisted in the capture of Barcelona and the reconquest of Catalonia. Charlemagne is said to have granted to the original Galcerán (or, more probably, to his son), what was thereafter known as the Barony of Pinós, on the southern slopes of Mont Jou in the Pyrenees, from which the family took the surname which it has ever since retained, being known variously as de Pinós in Spain, de Pins in France and de Pyn and Pyne in England. The Spanish house, however, has always employed the double surname Galcerán de Pinós, although at times certain of its members, for reasons of property inheritance, have joined to it or assumed the names of Canet, Castro and Gurrea y Aragon.

When the Moors captured Barcelona in the year 984, all the records then existing were destroyed. Consequently, we have no written documents of an earlier date referring to the immediate descendants of the first Galcerán de Pinós. Living as they did on the outer edge of Christendom, engaged in incessant warfare with the Moors, their very names are lost in the obscurity of the Dark Ages. The earliest contemporary documents which have been preserved, date back to 986, in which year Barcelona was finally recovered from the Moors, and show that Baron Pedro Galcerán de Pinós was then one of the great nobles of Catalonia and one of the principal supporters of its sovereign, the Count of Barcelona. From that time on, the record of the Spanish house is very complete down to the year 1720, which is as far as I have traced it. Information regarding the early links in the descent from A. D. 801 to 985 being lacking, the intervening generations have been indicated by the surname Galcerán de Pinós.

The ramifications of the family in Spain, France and England are so numerous that to avoid confusion this genealogical table has been prepared to serve both as an index and a guide in tracing the history of the various branches. Numerous histories, chronicles, public and private records and documents and other sources have been examined in the preparation of the history of the family, which it is hoped in time to publish, and a list of the most important of these precedes the pedigree of the branch of the family to which they refer, numbered to correspond with the heavy faced numerals in the text, so that the particular source from which the information is derived may be seen at a glance.

I have been greatly assisted in the disentangling of the Spanish line by the discovery of two manuscripts in the Biblioteca Nationale of Madrid. One, entitled "Sumarium Genealogicum Illustrissimæ Pinosorium Familiæ" and dated 1624, was prepared by Don Gaspar Galcerán de Pinós y Castro y So y Gurrea y Aragón, Count of Guimerá (see page 29), the head of the elder branch of the family, to be sent to his alleged kinsman, the Count of Waldburg. The other, called "Genealogia y Descendencia de la Casa de Pinós" and dated 1620, was written by Don Bernardo Galcerán de Pinós IV (see page 33), the head of the younger branch. Each author gives the history and descent of the family, and the two together form a very complete history of the Spanish house from its origin in the Eighth down to the Seventeenth Century. While each has paid particular attention to his own branch, yet each gives, in more or less detail, the line of descent of the other, and these two accounts corroborate and supplement each other in a remarkable manner, as do also the accounts of the lawsuits which give the opposing points of view.

There are several other branches of the Devonshire family of Pyne, among whom may be mentioned the Pynes of Waterford in Ireland, the head of which, in 1700, was Sir Richard Pyne, Lord Chief Justice of Ireland, and which separated from the East Down line about 1600; the Pynes of Axmouth and Tamerton Ffoliet, and the Pynes of Exeter, both of which can be traced back to about 1550; and a few others, such as the Pynes of Woodbury, Ottery St. Mary, etc. All these branches bear the arms of and are clearly descended from the Pynes of Upton Pyne. The family of Pyne of Curry Mallet in Somersetshire, which was especially prominent during the 17th Century, is doubtless also of the same stock, although bearing different arms. As I have not been able to prove to my own satisfaction the exact connection of these branches with the main line of descent I have therefore not included their pedigrees herein. It is to be hoped however that future investigations will make these connections clear.

I desire to record my obligations to John B. Pine, L. H. D., of New York; to E. C. Cheston, Esquire, of Deal, and to my cousin the late Charles A. Pyne, Esquire, of Kew, for valuable information and assistance, and also to the Marquis de Pins et de Montbrun, the head of the French house, who has kindly furnished a pedigree of his own branch.

In a work covering such a wide range and with such a mass of details, errors will unavoidably creep in, and I shall accept criticisms of errors, or information supplying omissions, in the spirit of the late Sir S. R. Meyrick, the antiquarian, when he said,

"The greatest pleasure that anyone can give me next to proving that I am right is kindly showing me where I am wrong."

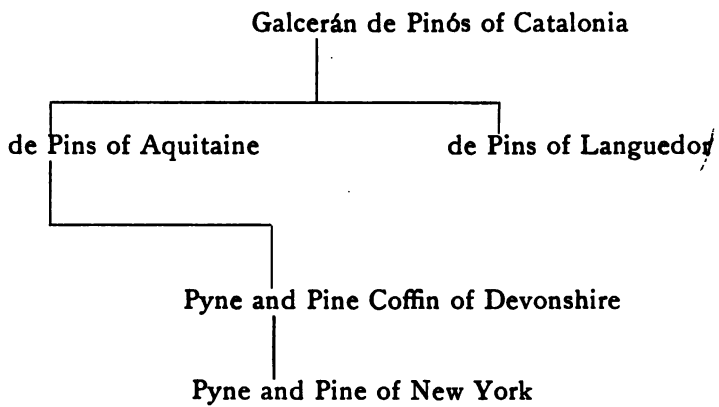

Drumthwacket,
Princeton, New Jersey.

John B. Pine, Civic Expert and Lawyer, Dies of Pneumonia

Prominent in Educational and Philanthropic Work—Funeral Tuesday.

John B. Pine, aged 65, of 24 Gramercy Park, a lawyer who for thirty years had been prominent in educational, civic and philanthropic work in this city, died early yesterday in St. Luke's Hospital after an illness of five weeks of pneumonia. Mr. Pine's law offices were at 63 Wall street.

A year ago last week Mr. Pine was standing at Third avenue and Eighteenth street when he was struck by an automobile and his collarbone broken.

Mr. Pine was born in Dubuque, Ia. He was graduated from Columbia University in 1877. He then entered the Columbia Law School.

In 1915 the degree of L. H. D. was awarded Mr. Pine by Princeton University. He took a special interest in the affairs of Columbia University. He was a member of the board of trustees since 1890, was secretary of the board at the time of his death, and also acted as attorney for the university. He founded the Columbia Quarterly.

He was a member of the board of managers and vice-president of St. Luke's Hospital, a trustee of the American Academy in Rome, a founder of the University Settlement Society and formerly manager of both the State Charities Aid Association and the Charity Organization Society. He served on the Art Commission of the city from 1907 to 1909 and organized the Art Committee Associates.

Mr. Pine was for many years a trustee of Gramercy Park, and most of the improvements made at the park during the last few years were the result of his efforts. In 1921 he wrote "The Story of Gramercy Park," which was published as an authoritative and complete history of that section. Mr. Pine also was largely responsible for the design and adoption of the city flag in 1915, and he edited the book on "The Seal and Flag of New York," which was published in 1915 in connection with the 250th anniversary of the installation of the first Mayor and Board of Aldermen.

In June, 1900, Mr. Pine married Miss Caroline Pryor of this city. She, with two daughters, Miss Edith Pine and Mrs. Chauncey B. Garver, survive him. He also leaves a sister, Miss Alice Pine. Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning in St. Paul's Chapel, Columbia University. The Rev. Henry Mottet, rector of Holy Communion Church, will preside.

Mrs. John B. Pine of 24 Gramercy Park has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Edith Pine, to Lawrence Bennett of this city. Miss Pine, who made her debut several years ago with her sister, now Mrs. Chauncey B. Garver, is the daughter of the late John B. Pine, a prominent lawyer of his day and also a trustee of Columbia University.

Mr. Bennett is a son of Mrs. Charles E. Bennett of Tryon, N. C., and the late Professor Bennett, who was head of the Department of Latin at Cornell University for many years.
